This website provides a consolidated view of all activities carried out within the Startup Oasis. This website uses terminology that may be interpreted to suggest that all entities in Startup Oasis are actually a single entity. However, there is no such single entity as Startup Oasis or Startup Oasis and all of the entities have their own separate legal existence – even though they may be using the common Startup Oasis brand.

Further, although certain individuals are identified on this website as “Partners” or “Co-founders” these titles reflect business usage to reflect their contribution and association that is customary within our industry and are not intended to indicate that any such individual is actually a partner or shareholder in any partnership as those terms are used for legal purposes.
